

STLE Commitment to Training

The purpose of the STLE Toronto Section Education Committee is to share developing technologies in basic and advanced lubrication for the benefit of all individuals involved in lubrication. STLE, Toronto Section, for many years has conducted seminars in a wide variety of topics to fulfill this commitment.

This year's Toronto Section Education Course is:

"Advances in Lubricant Formulations and How They Affect the Bottom Line"

Looking at advances in various lubricant formulations and how important these are in contributing to overall profitability. Newcomers to the lubricant industry and long-time associates alike are sure to benefit tremendously. In the past these seminars have helped lubricant users cut costs by identifying and improving material selection, identifying improved operating procedures and developing a greater awareness of preventative maintenance.

By offering this program we continue in our commitment to provide quality to our membership and the industry through sharing our knowledge. We encourage you to take advantage of this opportunity and plan to attend the seminar.

Course Includes: Lubricated Applications, and Equipment; Base Oils: Mineral Base derived and Synthetic; Additives, Used in Formulations; Specialty Greases; Food Grade Lubricants; Gear Lubrication, and Condition Monitoring

We would encourage you and your colleagues to take advantage of this opportunity and plan to attend.
